Or we have opportunities in other roles such as finance, marketing, HR, computing and software sales.

In fact, for the true geo junkie, petro head or tech head we've been known to tailor the position to suit the skills. So don't wait for us to advertise a position that suits you, apply anyway and we'll see what we can do.

Best in field, not best dressed!

Diversity at DUG means more to us than a mix of gender and nationalities, (although we pride ourselves on that mix too!).

The people who work for us can feel comfortable enough to express their personalities freely and openly. We don't enforce strict dress codes, corporate suits or fussy rules. We want a culture where our people are able to think, work and create to the best of their abilities.

Nine to five, or five to nine.

At DUG our team is truly important to us. We have high expectations of our people and encourage them to deliver 100% effort. In return, we don't just take but we try to give a little too. We understand that individuals like to work in different ways. Many of our staff enjoy flexible work hours, part time employment and being able to work from their preferred location around the world.

It's our way of encouraging the best in the business to stay with us. And it works!

To us, graduates are just trainee geniuses.

We invest a lot into our people. We are committed to developing the best possible career paths for each and every employee.

Our graduates get one-on-one attention to develop their potential. And all staff have access to ongoing training to keep them ahead of the field.

A company on the move means you can too!

DUG currently has offices in Perth, London, Houston and Kuala Lumpur. We are experiencing an exciting period of tremendous growth which means loads of opportunities for our employees, new and existing.
