

DUG woos top US geophysicist to Perth to drive growth

DOWNUNDER GeoSolutions has announced the appointment of Chris Davin to the role of chief operating officer.

The Perth-based geoscience company revealed that Mr Davin, a world renowned geophysicist who had previously held leadership roles with Chevron, Unocal, ExxonMobil and Cobalt International Energy during his 35-years in the oil and gas industry, would be relocating from Houston to support their global growth strategy.

His role would include managing the company's multi-client assets, worldwide offices, procurement processes, legal and project administration teams.

DUG's Managing Director Matt Lamont said the addition of Mr Davin was a significant appointment for the company.

"Mr Davin's expertise and experience are well known in the oil and gas industry. We are genuinely excited to have Mr Davin joining the DUG team," Mr Lamont said.

"This appointment demonstrates our commitment to securing the best talent the industry has to offer to underpin success in a challenging market."

Mr Davin said he has been impressed by DownUnder GeoSolutions' technology and was looking forward to joining a company with such a great reputation and talented staff.

"DownUnder GeoSolutions is well known for its innovative approach to geoscience software and services. I am
