

A Drag Of A Party

Last year's DownUnder GeoSolutions (DUG) Christmas party, held at the Mounts Bay Sailing Club on 26 November, was a real drag. There were copious amounts of feathers and flamboyancy with Brazilian drumming and dancing group – Sambalicious.

Throughout the evening guests were served drinks by a number of showgirl hostesses and, like in previous years, were treated to pizzas of their choice from Nunzio of Il Padrino Mobile Pizza.

The drag queens arrived in style by limo and strutted down the red carpet to the surprise and delight of guests. They performed a five girl Priscilla Queen of the Desert show, led by 'Feminine Hygiene', which involved copious amounts of lavish costume changes – feathers, sequins and size 16 stilettos as far as the eye could see.

The show made a few people nervous but not Matt Lamont, DUG's charismatic MD, who joined them on stage for a short dance, much to the dismay of the 'girls' and delight of the crowd. Once the 'girls' curtsied and strutted off stage, rock band Slim Jim and the Phatts got guests dancing the night away. ■

DUG MD Matt Lamont and the showgirls.

Let the flamboyant show begin!

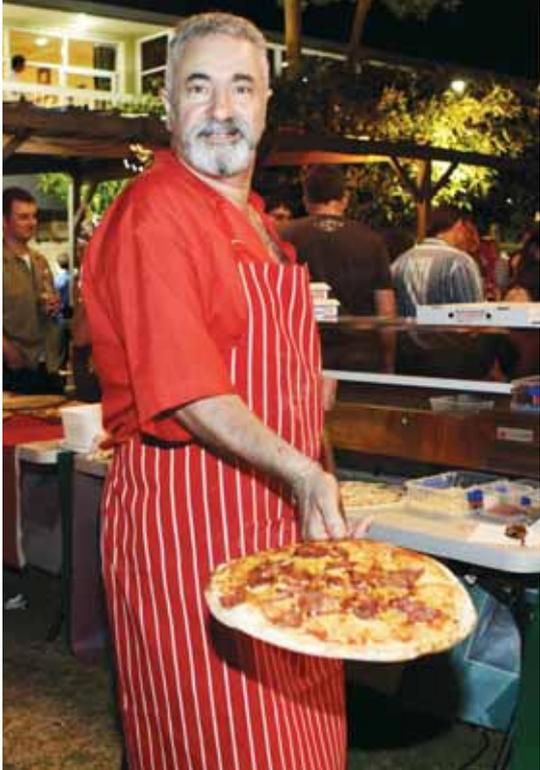

Mark Thompson from Woodside and friends.

Pickles Singh and Steffan Kleffmann from Otto Energy having a few laughs.

Laurence and Jan Hansen.

Nunzio.

Peter and Susan Stickland from Tap Oil.

David and Rhonda Hearty, Jeff and Karen Webster and Myra Moss enjoying the night.

Sambalicious dancer looking stunning.

Mark Beeson, Mark Browne, Louise and Sean Bower and Fiona.

Phil Woods from Otto Energy all dolled up.